Czepiga Daly Pope & Perri

Carmine Perri is one of the principals of the law firm Czepiga Daly Pope & Perri. He leads the firm's litigation department, represents clients in will contests, contested probate matters, nursing facility collection actions, conservatorships, and financial and elder abuse. He argues before the Connecticut Supreme and Appellate courts, and throughout Connecticut at the trial and probate court levels.

Carmine won the case Paul Valliere, Et. Al. v. Commissioner of Social Services, S.C. 19701. In a decision released February 1, 2018, the Connecticut Supreme Court found in favor of the plaintiffs, represented by Carmine, who had challenged the Commissioner of Social Services over a determination from the Department of Social Services (DSS) regarding whether or not a preexisting spousal support order rendered by the Probate Court was binding on DSS.

Carmine was admitted to the Connecticut Bar in 2005, the U.S. District Court, District of Connecticut in 2005, and the Second Circuit Court of Appeals in 2011. He is a member of the Connecticut Bar Association Elder Law Section and a member of the Connecticut Chapter of the National Academy of Elder Law Attorneys (NAELA). For the seventh year in a row, Carmine was selected as a New England Elder Law "Rising Star" by New England Super Lawyers magazine, a designation recognizing the top up-and-coming attorneys in New England who are 40 years old or younger. Carmine received his law degree in 2005 from Quinnipiac University School of Law. He received his bachelor's degree in 2002 majoring in Philosophy.
